To whom it may concern:

When I started to look for a home, I wrote to a few relocation agencies asking for information. Monica Barzilay was the first one to answer me and from the very first conversation, she demonstrated herself to be a person with ample knowledge of the market and ready to help people in our situation. Monica gave us lots of information in the few conversations we had with her, even before we subscribed to her services.

Once we decided to go with her firm, Monica immediately started to work, organising visits to apartments in the city, the great majority of which were within our specified requirements, such as size, location and price. Monica or one of her staff came to pick up my wife for all visits and handled all the details. And while not exactly related to home search, she provided us, without any additional costs, with information about activities and places to go with our little daughter.

Once we found the apartment that we consider right for us, her staff moved quickly to make sure that all the forms and requirements were met. Luckily, we obtained the apartment of our choice, a duplex in Versoix, with a lake view, at a reasonable price, given today's market conditions.

After having obtained the apartment, Monica continued to give us information about furniture, electricians and events for expatriates.

We are delighted with the services provided by Monica and her staff, always very professional and efficient, and that resulted in our obtaining the perfect apartment for us. The payment of her fees was a very good investment.
